In The Herald's

"Keynote" Edition

In connection with the "Keynote" Trade Excursion, The Herald will issue a "Keynote" Edition. To business men who are going on the excursion, and those who are not, an advertisement in this edition will be the "key" to unlock the business doors of adjacent territory. This edition will be issued on October 12th. In addition to The Herald's regular circulation, a sufficient number of copies will be printed to cover the territory traversed by the excursion. The Herald will have a man on the excursion for this special purpose.

Past Performances

On previous trade excursions The Herald's trade excursion edition has always been a business bringer for El Paso firms. The coming "Keynote" Edition will be far better than any paper of this kind previously published. Business men are asked to cooperate with The Herald's Advertising Department.

HOLIEST OF DAYS FOR JEW SATURDAY

Celebration Will Begin on Friday Evening, Ending
Saturday Night.

When the first stars appear in the heavens Friday evening, they will usher in the day holiest to the Jew in his entire religious calendar. From that hour until the evening of the following day, Saturday, Sept. 21, the devout Jew will give himself entirely to God, and to the purifying of his soul by repentance. It will be a day spent by him in meditation and prayer, with no thought of the world, its profits or pleasures. It is the great White Fast, when, abstaining from all food, from sundown to sundown, the people of Israel "afflict their souls" for the sins of the past year.

The holy day is mentioned in the Bible in a number of places; Leviticus XVI describes the elaborate priestly ceremonial of atonement; ibid XXIII, 26-32, it appears in the list of festivals where the "affliction of the soul" (fasting) is ordained; ibid XXV, 3, announces that on the day of atonement, each 50th year, the trumpet sound shall usher in the jubilee year; while Numbers XXIX, 7-11, describes the sacrifices of this sacred day. From these references and later accounts of the Talmud we can get a picture of this day of awe as it was celebrated in Biblical times. The holy day on the 10th day of Tishri was observed by abstention from food and drink and by an elaborate ceremonial in which the high priest was the central figure. He besought forgiveness for his own sins and those of his own household, then for those of the wider household of priests, then for all the people. Of two goats, he slaughtered one as a sacrifice "for the Lord" and set the other aside "for Azazel." The blood of the sacrifices he sprinkled upon the curtain of the holy of holies to purify it from the sins of the people.

From this Biblical ceremonial which throughout seeks for forgiveness of the community as a whole, the day of atonement has been somewhat changed in Rabbinic Judaism and in the modern service and emphasizes also the repentance and personal prayer for the forgiveness of each individual sinning soul. It completes the penitential period of 10 days that had begun with the New Year's day.

The celebration of the Day of Atonement begins in the synagogue with the evening service, called Kol Nidre from its opening formula, which refers to vows concerning the individual and his conscience. With its strongly marked melodies and songs, this service assumed in the course of time a very impressive character. Throughout the following day a continuous series of services is held, which toward the middle of the afternoon is heightened in impressiveness by a most solemn commemorative service for the dead. This is followed by the Neilah or closing service in which the main ideas of the day are especially emphasized; repentance, conditioning forgiveness and God's sealing the decree of man for the ensuing year. The service ends with a solemn invocation of God's name, the Shema, and the sevenfold exclamation, "Hear, O Lord, He is God." As a signal of the close of the sacred day, the trumpet (shofar) is blown once, and the devout worshipper turns homeward from God's house with the assurance that in reward for his true and sincere repentance the sins of the past have been forgiven.

Rabbi Zelenka will preach at Temple Mt. Sinai Friday at 7 p. m. on "What are We Trying to Get Out of Life?" on Saturday, at 10 a. m. on "On the Heights," and at a Memorial service at 4 p. m. Saturday on "Out of the Depths."

The Sabbath school of Temple Mt. Sinai will open for the enrollment of pupils Sunday, Sept. 22, at 10 a. m. All children desiring to attend are expected to be on hand at this time.

NOGI BEQUEATHS BODY TO MEDICAL COLLEGE

Tokio, Japan, Sept. 17.—The will of Gen. count Maresuko Nogi, who, with his wife, committed suicide the moment the body of the late emperor started on its journey to the tomb, suggests that his body be given to a medical college, requesting that only his teeth, hair and nails be buried in the grave.

The document bears the date of the night of September 12, 24 hours before he took his life, and it indicates that the death of the countess had not been decided upon when the instrument was prepared.

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK.

I HAVE just rote a song, wife, sed Pa, that I think you wud like to hear.

I wud like to hear it all rite if you will let Bobbie sing it, sed Ma. I am afraid that you wud be abel to do so fine a song Justice.

Well, sed Pa, then Bobbie can sing it. I knew that he wanted to sing it himself, but what Ma sed about it being a fine song made me feel kind of good after all. So Pa handed me the song, & I sang it the best I cud for the kind of song it was. This was the name of the song:

The drawing room was crowded in a city far away.

It was a politishun's hoam, so brilliant and so gay.

His wife was cooking dinner when a guest came through the door.

"What are you thinkin' William, fast will get jest one term more!"

She hit him with a turnip on his bald and shiny pate.

"Sumthin' like the followin' was the word that she did state."

Nix, nix, nix on Polyticks.

I'm tired of Teddy Roosevelt's little Bull Moose tricks.

I wudden care if Taft greets Datt & Wilson crossed the Styx.

Nix, nix, nix on Polyticks!

Well, sed Pa, what do you think of that for a song?

It didden seem to impress me favorably, sed Ma. It is not true, not true to life & not true to women, sed Ma. Did you ever see me, for instans, throwin' a turnip at a man's bald head?

COLORADO IS READY TO FIGHT THE DAM

Will Be at Salt Lake City With Strong Delegation—Temple Choir 500 Voices to Sing "The Ode to Irrigation."

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 17.—Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, has announced his intention of heading a trainload of Texas delegates to the National Irrigation congress at Salt Lake City to do battle with Colorado over the vexing question of state rights to the waters of the Rio Grande. It is reported here that Colorado's side of the argument will be advanced under the leadership of former governor Alva Adams and senator Frank Gouty, and that they will be backed by a strong delegation from Colorado to arrive at Salt Lake City September 29. Differences of opinion regarding title to some of the water along the Colorado-Utah line have arisen recently and, although Utah's position as hostess to the congress will not permit of active participation in the fight, which otherwise might be made three-cornered, it is assured that developments will be watched with interest by the Utah delegates.

The question of water rights along the Rio Grande is one that enlivened the discussions at the congresses held at Albuquerque in 1906 and at Pueblo in 1910.

The board of governors of the congress has arranged for a program that will exceed in general interest that of any previous session.

The rendition of the "Ode to Irrigation" by the Tabernacle choir, augmented to 500 voices, at the opening session of the congress will be one of the greatest musical events in the history of this famous choir, according to Prof. J. J. McClellan, composer of the ode. The choir will sing other selections, with full orchestral and organ accompaniment.

Musical features for the congress will play an important part in the amusement and entertainment features of the program. The official band will be on duty from the Saturday before the opening of the congress to the closing day, and, in addition to every available band in Salt Lake City, on the opening day of the congress the cities of Price and Spanish Fork will send their bands for the great parade.

DEVELOPMENT TUCUMCARI HAS BOOM IN BUILDING

Bids Are Opened For Five Government Buildings on Experiment Farm.

Tucumcari, N. M., Sept. 17.—Extensive improvements will be made this winter and next spring on the local opera house, the changes contemplated being the pebble dashing of the present structure and the addition of a 50 by 90 foot air dome on the south side of the building as it now stands. Ritz & Sons, contractors of the five buildings, will begin the pebble dashing of the building this week and the remainder of the work will be completed as soon as the weather permits, it is said.

A. I. Walker has let the contract for a residence on South First street, adjoining the McAlpine residence, which is nearing completion. Another building to be erected in the same neighborhood will be the residence of A. J. Clavel, adjoining the home of L. G. Pearson.

Work is being rushed on the home of J. D. McMurtrie, on South Third street. The building will be finished with stucco.

U. N. Whitehall, a contractor of this city, was declared the lowest bidder on the construction of the government experiment station north of town. His bid approximated, it is said, $5500. Two other bidders tried for the work, the lower being more than $200 above the successful bidder in his bid.

Work has started on the clearing of the section of land recently purchased for the station and this land will be broken and prepared for crops as soon as possible. Prof. E. C. Chilcott, chief of the office of dry land agriculture at Washington, has been in Tucumcari conferring with the local officers in regard to the plans and locations for the new buildings. It is thought that the farm will be in good shape by next spring.

NEW PHONES FOR DOUGLAS RECEIVED

New Exchange Building Is Practically Completed; System to Be Made New With Modern Equipment.

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 17.—Five hundred desk and wall telephone instruments, of the latest type manufactured by the Western Electrical company, have arrived in Douglas for the local office of the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph company. The tools which will be used in their installation arrived at the same time and the work of putting the new instruments in place in the business houses and residences of the city will be started within a few days.

The company's new office building on Eleventh street between D and E avenues is rapidly nearing completion, plastering and interior finishing being in progress now.

Road Work Delayed.

On account of the heavy rains which fell during the summer season all over Arizona, progress on county road work has necessarily been quite slow, according to county road superintendent J. W. Benton. Practically every road in the county has been washed out more or less.

To cope with this situation, Benton has entirely inadequate force, having but six men and four teams at his command. The road building crew is now between Douglas and Fairbank, working east. They will not be able to reach the Douglas district for at least two months, Benton stated.

NEW BUILDING TO BE FINE STRUCTURE

State College, N. M., Sept. 17.—The new Engineering building will be the finest building on the campus, and is to be first class in every respect. It will cost $30,000 and will be built in an L shape, and will be three stories in height. A tower or dome will be constructed over the entrance of the main unit, and large stone will lead up to the main entrance on the second floor.

The first floor is to be of a semi-classical character, and the building will contain class, lecture and drawing rooms and laboratories and will be room for the physical department. The annex will have the machinery and woodwork shops, with electrical and mechanical laboratories and all the power equipment. The new building will give ample room for the new powerplant, gas engine and the Universal grinding machine which are now lying idle for want of room.

NEW PLANT REPLACES OLD WATTS STRUCTURE

Within two weeks the old Watts pumping plant of the waterworks will be an entirely new structure. Brick has entirely replaced the old sheet iron structure that stood there for so many years.

The roof is being placed on that part of the building in which the steam boilers rest. The steam plant is not to be entirely dismantled, but will be reserved for emergency in the event of accident to the new electric pumping machinery which is now in working order.

As the mesa plant is fulfilling all that was expected of it, no water is being pumped from the old Watts well.
